

Todd Giffen < todd@strags.com >

(no subject)

Todd Giffen < case@oregonstatehospital.net >
To: Andrew Ross < carlandross@yahoo.com >

Sat, Feb 8, 2014 at 9:27 AM

My thoughts earlier was that you should have moved onto having an actual understanding of my situation and plan of action by now. Its one of those things when once you mis the mark, the opportunity to do the appropriate thing is over. So we are sitting at a junction that does not improve, even in time, and so its not likely to improve in the future.

I cannot understand how I am supposed to work with someone who has no plan or execution strategy. If you had this, then your messages and plans would have been much more in line with things I have already told you, made available, and all that. We would have had some kind of result to go with it.

All I see is time wasted, things not gathered for evidence, PI not returning calls or gathering things, no work getting done. Various witness leads not followed, evudence ungathered.

I am building my own case with what I got so far. It does not look like I will be receiving help with the bigger picture from this law firm in the current mode of operation.

Nothing left to say at this time. Kidder and Jennifer Maghaney could have already got a ton of records from OSH, investigated leads from the security video/audio, records, etc. It was all wasted breathe with Sam cause she hasn't done it either, but she thought they were going to be good to hire. Why hasn't any of this been done? I guess it doesn't matter, things are just not going to get looked into...

[Quoted text hidden]