I left you a voicemail and several emails sent with the audio clips of "the witness".

I will be checking the webserver logs to see if you.. downloaded them.

I wonder if you got plans for this yet? Hope you got an answer soon.

Also, I got some evidence of the gangstalkers viewing my website last year. When I registered the domain oregonstatehospital.net june 2012, before I told anyone or even had it set up, someone started to email and circulate the link via Live.com and Facebook. I got in the server logs their IPs, and referral information showing someone sent private messages and emails about my site and the users clicked the links right over to my site. Why is this so big? Because noone would have known in the privacy of my room what I was doing. It's like they were in my head, saw me register it, and suddenly told all those involved about it. The IPs can be used to trace back to the original humans. I bet they work for the federal or state government, or lane county. We can also subpoena the original emails and facebook messages to see what the messages were being spread around, and who sent them. I know they had to have been like, "oh, shit! He registered a domain and is setting up a website about it!" .. among the first IPs to ever view my site, were Washington DC IPs. Like US Department of Justice, or .. DoD. Or.. Barack Obama's office. Honestly we gotta investigate to find out who. Plus, we know there would be no links to oregonstatehospital.net because the domain was unregistered, never used, no links to it anywhere.

I hear Facebook keeps all their private messages logged, even deleted ones, and ones you type but never send (sent to facebook through AJAX while you typed). So I am sure we could get the original messages and subpoena identities.

My ISP web server host is 1and1. The log was deleted from the main web folder after 6 weeks, but it is saved in another place. 1and1 told me we could get those logs by court order or legal action. We should do it. I got other logs saved since may 2013. The log from june 2012 to may 2013 is in a folder I don't fully have access to. I can only get a print off from the stats page of what is in the logs, like how many people visited, etc. The actual logs got file viewed, ip of user, what site or link they came from, user agent/browser, and more...

I am sure this traces to real people, who are criminally responsible for my abuse. Also, the first files hosted on my site were story.txt and cia.txt which at least cia.txt is still there. Oh, and psychotroniclinks.doc.

Thanks..
